PARADISE BYRDS

WHEN their last LP 'Younger than Yesterday' was released nearly a year ago it was sufficiently impressive to rank the Byrds as one of the major establishment groups in pop music. THE NOTORIOUS BYRD BROTHERS just released on C.B.S. has certainly done nothing to jeopardise this position. Their part of [illegible] has denied them association with any particular [illegible] an admirable feat [illegible] denied them commercial success.

However during the months immediately preceding this latest record the individuality of many groups has been shattered. Every [illegible] past twelve months [illegible] [illegible]

OCEAN WAVES

ABOUT [illegible] Sweden recently [illegible] new group called the Atlantic Ocean. They were [illegible] by [illegible] English record companies and have finally signed up with Mike [illegible] of CBS.

The incredible thing about them is that between the four of them they play every instrument in [illegible] orchestra [illegible] They have without doubt more equipment than any other group in the world.

In their stage act each member of the group switches instruments [illegible] the course of a number and their versatility includes [illegible] string quartets and two of them [illegible] double drum set.

So far they [illegible] Sweden [illegible] Northern Pop Festival [illegible] [illegible] without yet having had a record released.

They are due to have a single and an album released [illegible] in London.

As their music is very [illegible] and sophisticated, [illegible] very great [illegible] audience.

6/5 3rd week: Pete Brown and his Orchestra, 3rd Ear Band, K.I.W.C.

The CLUB was originally organised by [illegible] K.I.W.C. Because there were [illegible] [illegible] 3rd Ear Band and Tribe of the Sacred Mushroom.

The idea is to provide a small family type club specialising in [illegible] music, poetry and 'experimental' [illegible], chants, audience participation.

We are trying to change the concept of AUDIENCE and PERFORMERS. We want [illegible] ALL participating, ALL enjoying each other.

Club is at present very [illegible] (performers play free so far) but hoping to build up [illegible]

McJAZZ

CHRIS McGREGOR is huge, [illegible] bearded and is wearing a woolly cap [illegible] — or maybe he was given it by Archie Shepp. [illegible] psychic jazz man is probably [illegible] at this moment [illegible] somewhere to practise, somewhere to get that music out of his head.

More than likely he's [illegible] searching and discovering new [illegible] energies within himself — and giving love, warmth and all those good communications to anyone who happens to be about.

He's one person, one jazz group, who's going to be hurt when Ronnie Scott's Old Place closes down on Saturday May 25. Yes it's closing down because the landlord is said to have refused to renew the lease. Chris McGregor and his group have had a regular spot there on and off for most of the three years they've been in London.

Their performances happen like this: Chris is [illegible] installed at the piano before the other members arrive. The music struggles, they struggle, and wander off now and again to a secret room. Slowly the energy builds. The audience is now filling the club [illegible] playing.

Something shaks. The audience grow tense, the atmosphere is [illegible] Music! Listening! [illegible] games. A [illegible] underground for too long is [illegible] kicked into limbo.

They [illegible] the music — or was it something in the [illegible]? The energy is rippling and sinking them in the efforts [illegible]

The audience have woken up. They're really straining with the group to get that energy out [illegible] echoing [illegible] back from the audience to the group. There's nothing left in that club except that music.

It gets too much for the Zulus. The platform is left with bassist [illegible], the tenor and Chris. In the audience the Zulus are doing [illegible] Dance. Everyone is going wild. And the Music is still there. Then there's a fight. The Zulus are at it again.

Their manager's telephoned: 'Get those sounds out of here!'

McGregor [illegible] out May 18, [illegible] the Zulus at the Festival Hall.
